

Cosmo Alleycats Bio:

If you pass a San Francisco bar on a Friday night with a long line of expectant patrons out front, chances are they're all waiting to be propelled into the sonic time warp of a Cosmo Alleycats performance inside.

Cosmo Alleycats have been a favorite of the San Francisco music scene since the band's 2010 beginning. The group, led by jazz vocalist Emily Day, "one of the major singers in her field" (Scott Yanow), endears audiences with their inviting musicality and playful improvisation, making quick converts of the jazz-curious, while still nodding to the serious aficionados.

Cosmo Alleycats presents Old Sweet Songs, a show celebrating enduring melodies, a bygone style of song writing, and their original songs that contend for placement in the Great American Canon. With sixteen years' experience performing together, Cosmo Alleycats is a well-oiled machine. But however polished their performance may be, it's their sense of playfulness that holds the door open for the unexpected.

"Old Sweet Songs, a perfect introduction to Emily Day and the Cosmo Alleycats for those who have somehow missed their music, and a delight for their longtime fans, is a well-rounded set that will be enjoyed by both listeners and dancers" – Syncopated Times.
